I'll go where no one goes
I need to isolate myself
From everything and everyone
Just to keep myself from hell

Please direct me where no one has ever been
Signs all point the direction of Saturn now

Chemical bonds
Covalent connections erode with time
I don't need you or you
I have to get out

Because somewhere there's a place I can heal
And you wouldn't understand how it feels

In retrospect
I denied what I was told
Slipping out of touch with it
Afraid of getting worn and old

Please direct me where no one has ever been
Signs all point the direction of Saturn now

I couldn't believe that it was happening
Looking back now I had to get away
Sever every tie and isolate my mind
Isolate and disconnect leave behind the mess that I called a life
