(An open letter, to my childhood... I miss you, I want you back.) Can you remember a time? When excitement was alive? When you didn't dread the dawn of the days light. Take my advice, Live now. This is the last chance you'll get, don't let a moment slip on by...

-Right now, you truly are Alive.

-You truly are Alive.

I'd give it all, and take nothing back. To love again, just to be content.

-Simplicity, was always the Answer.

Mark this day, for it can fade away, a distant memory, so mark this day.

In the sunset I'll dream of who I used to be, and even if just for a second, I'll live again.
