to shop and to buy, to fight and to die, to trust them when they tell you that everything is fine to believe our own lies that we must sacrifice liberty and freedom in the name of peace of mind i don't buy it, and neither should you, and i'm tired, and i'm sick of being used so let them know we've got a message to send: we've reached apathy's end to keep asking why, to reach and to try, to struggle and to strive to choose how we live our lives they'll put you away if you don't watch what you say, the true american way is illegal today no more pretending this is how we were meant to live. the alternative is to turn away when they say
