new ideas seem to come and go it's hard to absorb all the info before you wave that flag of support, take a look closer at those reports do you know the other point of view? who payed to bring this info to you? do you ever think about what you're told? do you compare new ideas to old?
take that slogan that you scream -- do you ever think,
"what does it mean?"
issues aren't just black and white, don't be sure you know your opinion is right before you stand for what you believe, make sure it's something good to achieve it's good to unite and take a strong stand but don't just echo the words of some punk band
