All the strangers that we've seen tonight Does it seem absurd?
You can never say you've seen the light You're something special
A prophet to let for for world
You're some old girl
You're some old girl

Some old girl

You can maybe do it to yourself

Does it seem absurd?

You can never say you've seen the light

You're something special

A prophet to let for the world

Some old girl

You can stick around here

But you never seem to let it all go

All the strangers that we've seen tonight Did it seem absurd?
You can never say you've seen the light You're something special

You're some old girl

You're some old girl
