

The Pains Of Being Pure At Heart "Gentle Sons"

Visit "Gentle Sons" on MotoLyrics.com

If you shut out the sun, the day will never come
If you turn on your side, this night won't come undone
Now you say you need a friend, but we can't live again

Monday morning comes too fast,
You stumble down the diamond path
And every step will be your last
The sunken eyes you just can't see
Remind me how you'll never leave
And every breath could be your last

Now you stand in the rain saying "Nothing has changed at all"
Save the lines in your eyes that reminds me of summers' fall
Oh no, you say you need a friend, but we can't live again

Monday morning comes too fast,
You stumble down the diamond path
And every step will be your last
The sunken eyes you just can't see
Remind me how you'll never leave
And every breath could be your last

Visit The Pains Of Being Pure At Heart page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.