

The Pains Of Being Pure At Heart "Heart In Your Heartbreak"

Visit "Heart In Your Heartbreak" on MotoLyrics.com

Take a look around when you're going down 'Cuz you'll never feel so high as when you hid in her arms in the sky and the world slept

And there's no use to say just how much it kills when it still kills all the same Every thought of her name like a hand to an open flame

She was the heart in your heartbreak
She was the miss in your mistake And no matter what you take, you're never going to forget

She was the tear in a rainstorm
She was the promise that you would've sworn And no matter what you say, it's never gonna come back

An ambulance goes by, and you wonder why it never stops when you want it to It never stops when you need it to take you away

And your friends don't understand that the world could end, and it would feel no worse than this Every thought of the look in her eye like a cold California sky

And no matter what you pray,
It's never gonna take the pain away
And even if she'd stay you know it's wrong

And no matter what you pray,
it's never gonna take the pain away
'Cuz even if she'd stay, you know she's gone

