Saving grace. And serving shots of nova cane to faces that have no names. And a passion lost, with memories in single frame. Even if you return to me, you know well never be the same. Cause here in Paradise, no one ever really cares. Im wondering where you are, somewhere out there. I know you're human, but I don't even know you now. I don't wanna love you now. And this playing dead with you is tearing me apart right now. Even if you return to me, you know well never be the same. Cause here in Paradise, no one ever really cares. Im wondering where you are, somewhere out there. Return to return. You spent your time here in Paradise. Here in Paradise, no one ever really cares. Im wondering where you are, somewhere out
