

The Paris Crash "1980"

Visit "1980" on MotoLyrics.com

Show me spade and I'll show you a heart that's grown cold
Given away as it's held by it's own
Told me today you'd never leave it
You're incomplete and I'm not the piece
Of mind that you need, that's never gonna change

How your eyes know, it's like you never showed me
How your eyes know now, it's like you never showed me
how

Take a stand if you need, show the place you hold's your own
I can't be held for the things that I know Confront me again, leave the answers I chose It's wasted on most but I thought you should know
I don' believe that's ever gonna change

How your eyes know, it's like you never showed me
How your eyes know now, it's like you never showed me
how

How your eyes, how your eyes know It's like you never showed me how You're incomplete but I'm not the piece of mind

Visit The Paris Crash page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.