After all your dreams are done and paid for When there's nowhere left to run and nobody left to stay for
Though I hate to be the one to bear such news
Seems like you're set to be the only one to lose

Little one how can it be you hurt yourself but do not see
Everything you're breathing for will let you down
And leave you sore

I was bound to the bed post
I was doing what I could to make a change
Caught a sigh of indifference
When certain feeling stuck so strange
While it was my wish to keep you from such pain
I regret to say my efforts were in vain

You're sad sad
Can't go without
You do it to yourself
So you can save your doubt

Little one one how can it be you hurt yourself but do not see
Everything you're breathing for will let you down
And leave you sore
Little one how can it be you hurt yourself but do not see
Your friends will hang you out to dry they'll scrape your Knees and make you cry

Everything you're breathing for will let you down
And leave you sore
Little one own how can it be you hurt yourself and do not see
