She reaches out to his side of the bed
She hears his voice but only in her head
After forty years it's hard to be alone
So tonight she'll go to sleep and dream him home
Dream him home
Dream him home
Oh tonight she'll go to sleep and dream him home
The nights are bad, but morning's even worse
Unprepared for how much losing true love hurts
But she makes it through the day because she knows
That tonight she'll go to sleep and dream him home
Dream him home
Dream him home
Oh tonight she'll go to sleep and dream him home
Dream him home
Dream him home
Oh tonight she'll go to sleep and dream him home
