Here i am alone again
Thinking of you the only friend in my mind
In my heart we're on again
Or maybe i'm just blind

Why would it matter now
You should know

What is the time in your practical world
And who's empty mind are you really, really?
What is the time in your practical world
And who's empty mind are you really, really?

Here i am so strong again
But without you so why pretend
If i move on i'm still a mess
And you're still lost in time fading from me

Why would it matter now
You should know

What is the time in your practical world
And who's empty mind are you really, really?
What is the time in your practical world
And who's empty mind are you really, really?
