We... are nothing but shepherds hungry for gold we... like senseless guards of statues so cold we... are nothing but dreamers of time that will come we... like sand in a desert awaiting the wind.

If I close my eyes if I start to dream there's only you for me where nothing can help me be.

We... are nothing but tributes to idols we praise we... like medals of steel stuck on a wall we... are nothing but mortals subjected to death we... like drifters in worlds unknown and far.
