She's all alone
Waiting for her brother to come right home
What home
Lost in the battle
The house is burning down
Her eyes are closing to this world, pleading for resolution
Her hope was found but now is lost to this world

Get me out of here
There is so much to fear

The planes bomb away with no sympathy
And so::Run quickly there's no escape no more time Sirens blaring, the ear deafening cries of mass hysteria
Objectives lost in blood sheds of paranoia,
The countdown is ending, time elapses, not again it's all over

Here in the ruins lie broken pieces of the puzzle
All progress is lost
Left in the station
No one to care for you
