We caught us by surprise: three months,
Twelve days and fourteen seconds.
She said, "what are you waiting for?"
She said "It's all to familiar" it's the same effect
On everyone, and reading your lips
All day won't make me well read.
She said "five dollars is all I need"
She said "we'll make it back together"
I remember the last words you said,
Thanking me for every time I "made you smile"
She said "I'll quietly forget this"
She said "I need time for myself"
Watching your every movement,
Hearing everything you said:
It captivates everyone.
It captivates everyone.
It's all over now.
