If you'd just trust in me
You know I trust you
We'll do all the things that you've dreamed to do
I you'd just let go if you'd let your heart go

Take me past me past the color of your eyes Take me from the past of my mistakes to where the future lies
I know my moods are changing like the weather. Do you ever dream of us together?
Now I just want to show you who I am

Holding on to dreams we collide
We had our futures
Our reasons
Our fingers on the trigger
When we base our joy on things that we see
We lose the trust in it all and the faith we believe
If you'd just trust in me
You know I trust you
We'll do all the things that you've dreamed to do
I you'd just let go if you'd let your heart go
Remember when I used to be your everything?
Now im just nothing at all
Trust me I've tried to let you go
But I can't move on I can't move on

What I do now will effect what comes next
And this life that I lead will be everything you need
I pray to be all that you dream
And I'll die trying to be
