"Reset The Breaker"

Who wrote the rules?
I'd like to know
Did they live it or laugh it off and let it go?
Did they break down? Did it show?
As their light was slipping away
See the trends sink with the sun
See the old friends
They're packing up and moving on
And time will tell, 'cause time only knows
It eats at your seams just to see if you'll let it go
Save us all, darkness breaks through the afternoon
Like no other, light is slipping away from us
Could you reset the breaker?
Reset the breaker
I broke the rules and boy, does it show
And I'm so ready, so say goodbye and watch me go
To this great uncharted unknown
That sleeps in these sheets and repeats in me ever so slow
I'm alone
So save all of us, darkness breaks through the day
Like no other, light is slipping away from me
So save all of us, light is slipping away
Like no other, our lives are drifting away from us
We're all alone
Now I cut all these strings
I fly away alone
Softly singing
This word
It's mine
My life
My song
Sing it
Scream it
Believe it
I'm gone.
