Yeahhhhhhhhh, yeah, yeah

Now it's fallin' around you

Pick up the pieces

You know they won't fit

Teardrops are fallin' down like rain

Ocean water around you

I see it comin' 'round again

I know

Now I realize that I'll be fine and I'll forget you

Will you ever learn that there's more to life than helping yourself?

Will I reach out my hand and stop you from fallin', which starts this over again?

This time there's nowhere left to talk as I run down the boardwalk

Trying hard to forget your face

I know

Wish I could finally find the strength to open up your letters

I think I'll throw them all away instead

Now I realize that I'll be fine and I'll forget you

Will you ever learn that there's more to life than helping yourself?

Will I reach out my hand and stop you from fallin', which starts this over again?

Don't know if I can bring myself to open up your letters

Maybe I'll throw them all away

Forget you all together

Know now I'm waiting back at home

Know now I'm waiting back at home and I am starving for affection

Affection..... [repeat x4]

When will I finally find the strength to open up your letters?

I think I'll throw them all away

Forget you all together

When will I find my way back home?

Find my way on back home

My way back home

And now it's falling around you
Pick up the pieces
You know they won't fit
