6am and the night is
Still breathing down my back
The radio is blaring
Static in the distance
The sky is a circus of
Dark clouds
And a rising sun

But I don't want the day to come
I want the whole night to swallow me
And I feel your arms around me
Your love surrounds me
But I don't feel you

And I whisper
I whisper your name
I whisper
Oh I whisper your name

You hold my hand in silence
As we take the long journey from
The sidewalk to the door
The house is shaded like it
Knows the future
And it changes accordingly

But I feel nothing
I just need you now
I can't live without you
I can't live
And I know that I can't reconsider
I can't turn away
I can't make this better

And I whisper
I whisper your name
I whisper
Oh I whisper your name

They walk past me with sorry smiles
Stretched across their faces

Flowers line the window sill
Its mortal fragrance
Torturing my senses

But I don't want to look beyond
Don't want to tell myself
That you are really gone
And this moment is so stale with shock
So lost in motion
All these things forgotten

And I whisper
I whisper your name
I whisper

Still breathing down my back
