I'm drifting in the water, I'm somewhere in between
A ship that cannot save me, a shore I cannot see
My mouth is dry and wasted, my will is giving out
I'm looking for religion, in the middle of a drought
Ooh ooh

I want you to destroy me, I'm no good anyway
I wrapped myself in secrets, and debts I couldn't pay
I'm falling to my knees but I say give me more Show me what I'm running from and what I'm looking for

Like an arrow through my heart
A stolen bow, the perfect shot

Maybe I want something that I can never have Maybe I'm an easy mark, a target on my back
Oh you have no mercy, you come in disguise
Maybe it's the best things that are hardest to recognize

Like an arrow through my heart
A stolen bow, the perfect shot
It doesn't matter if I miss or not
Cause you're an arrow right through my heart

The armor, the shield, the fortress, the field
The girl in the tower, the beast with his tears
You've taken me over, you're breaking me down
You're breaking me down, you're breaking me down

Like an arrow through my heart
A stolen bow, the perfect shot
It doesn't matter if I miss or not
Cause you're an arrow right through my heart

You're an arrow right through my heart
You're an arrow right through my heart
You're an arrow through my heart
You're an arrow right through my heart
