I used to wish away your memory every night
Trying to erase the lines you've drawn
But suddenly you've faded almost out of sight
Now you're going, going, gone

Why did I try
So hard to let you
When deep down I don't know
If I am really ready to say goodbye
Now what am I gonna hold on to
I miss missing you

I always felt so comforted by loneliness
If nothing else it filled the space
Now that I'm over you
I'm left with emptiness
And nothing to take it's place

Why did I try
So hard to let you
When deep down I don't know
If I am really ready to say goodbye
Now what am I gonna hold on to
I miss missing you

You smiled on every strangers face that I saw
Now I have to concentrate to remember you at all
Why did I try
So hard to let you
When deep down I don't know
If I am really ready to say goodbye
Now what am I gonna hold on to
I miss missing you

Yes I do
I miss missing you
