How far we've come but i feel nothing, but a pounding inside the alussion is so great, and as we meditate what we feel is right, so wrong and besides the point our minds travel in packs, but i must step aside step aside and view, step the fuck aside buckled down with plans of faith, so let these words fall down your throat the world is so great right now so step the fuck aside and we need no more anguish and no more pitty inside so now in singing, but not preaching he will enter at no risk no one is to blame so point your finger aside and point it at yourself
