The flowers on the bed never concealed the stain Remember what I said, but I never could lead the way I remember you laughin' at the sun and lying to the one you cried to
I remember you, dumb because I couldn't find you

Holding back the tears I smiled through Blinded by the sun I lied to

Digging through your things, knowing that the trouble started Digging through you soul, rubble of a broken heart And I'm saving you, nothing else could take the precedence away from that task And I remember you driving in the car in the graveyard in a dream that I had

Holding back the tears I smiled through
