what if i came knockin on your front door some night would you open the window and drop me down the key?
and what if I came knockin on your bed post that same night would you open up your heart or try to get the best of me what if i came knockin on your brain the next day and asked for your truth and your love and your honesty would you build up your big walls or try to hide behind that smile or would you try to pull the wool right over me so what if I came knocking so what if i came kickin and scared you a little bit and I came on strong would you think thats theres something wrong with me or could it be your fears of trying something real or just afraid to touch a a guy like me

what if I came knockin?

lets just say it worked out like a storybook dream and we lived happily everafter fa la la la la la la la what if i came cryin after just a few weeks and said i misread my heart this is not really meant to be yeah if you hear some knockin on your window tonight you can bet that its a probably me and let it be known that we're just a pair of tumblin dice and the outcome of this crap shoot is hard to see

so what if I came knockin

on your front door tonight
and kick kick kick what if I came knockin on your front porch tonight tonight
