

The Saturdays

"Last Call"

Visit "Last Call" on MotoLyrics.com

The sun goes down
And that's the time when it hurts so bad
I feel the weight of the love we had
I can't move on without you and I've lost myself
You are like a habit that I can't live
No I can't hide from this feeling
Don't you know

I would wait for you
I would wait all night
Just the thought of you before I close my eyes
It's too late I can't take anymore

And I can't let it go
And I can't forget
All that I'm left holding is my regret
And it feels like we could've had it all
You are still my last call

We don't change
We still talk every single day
Even though there's nothing much else to say Ooo and I have tried all that I can but I can't break free There's no denying, you are a part of me that I can't throw away
I would wait for you
I would wait all night
Just the thought of you before I close my eyes
It's too late I can't take anymore

And I can't let it go
And I can't forget
All that I'm left holding is my regret

And it feels like we could've had it all

You are still my last call

You are still my last call

The last thing I do

The last thing I say

The last thing I do

The last thing I do

The last thing I say

The last thing I do

Is hear your voice

Say I love you

I would wait for you

I would wait all night

Just the thought of you before I close my eyes

It's too late I can't take anymore (anymore)

And I can't let it go

And I can't forget

All that I'm left holding is my regret

And it feels like we could've had it all

You are still my last call

You are still my last call

Visit The Saturdays page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.