It's not so hard when i don't think about ending up being what i don't want to be...

It's not so hard when i don't think about ending up seeing what i don't want to see...

She said don't be afraid ill make this all OK well make the mistakes, and ill take them away and i don't know if this will all be OK everything wont be the same, and everything wont be the same...

It feels so wrong to sit back and think about just how far we let this go (tell me how far we let this go) it feels so wrong to sit back and think about how we had to wait to know

Never been the best at choosing your words, baby if you will do this right, you better make it hurt just make this last forever, put me down for the count, ill be the end to all your means girl, if you know what its about

the same
I promise I promise you
