I won't say no more about, what we're talking 'bout.
I won't say another word.
All my dreams that I try and tell you 'bout, you don't understand a word.
All the time and all the bridges over,
Water through our hearts and minds,
Now I see that all we had was nothing,
When all the time and all the lies.
So I tell you now.
I won't say no more about, what we're talking 'bout.
I won't say another word.
All my dreams that I try and tell you 'bout,
You don't understand a word.
You and I and others we have been there,
We've hit the bottom and not the top,
So who would have thought
That all we had had fallen,
When all the dreams I have, I'm goin' up. So I tell you know.
As you sit there smiling,
Not a thing can make me see that you have changed.
Break away from death's road.
We had dreams about that fame and fortune,
Said I'm gonna make it and be a star.
All of our names remembered by the people.
I should have known that we could never go that far.
