"Funeral Monolith"

It's so hard to remember the deepest loneliness of that day, of those lies.
It's so hard to find satisfaction somewhere else.
It's so hard to remember the deepest loneliness of that
day, of those lies.
It's so hard to find the way to slip away, from what I am,
away from my end.
I've hugged my dear loss, in silence I've kissed my ghost, no words and I've kept my breath.
Blood spilled in that timeless moment forever captive
in my own coffin.
Lifeless I fall.
Forgive me for my weakness but I'm drowned by the truth.
Remember our days, remember my name. In love, I die.
