You think you're better than everyone
But in the end you're like a coward holding a gun
So keep running your dirty mouth
You still don't know, what you're talking about
I used your hating
Turned it around to motivate me
Your words so condescending
But truth be told they keep me going

I'll use analogies, and simple harmonies
To tell you you're changing and it's not a good thing
I only wish you knew the good inside of you
Could conquer the darkness and your heart could stop
this

Abandoned, shattered alone
Your doubts are screaming at the top of their lungs
I'll pay no mind to their songs
I'll let you live an empty life all alone

I'd love to see you try to stop me
You really think this is easy, right? (fuck)
You'll never know
Cause you'll never even try this

I'll use analogies, and simple harmonies
To tell you you're changing and it's not a good thing
I only wish you knew the good inside of you
Could conquer the darkness and your heart could stop

Abandoned, shattered alone
Your doubts are screaming at the top of their lungs

Step by step
You're just a face
Step by step
You fade away

I'll bring you hell
