

Mel MacKaron "Hurricane"

Visit "Hurricane" on MotoLyrics.com

You're a hurricane, and you've blown my mind to pieces~"

You entered my life just like a tropical breeze,
And captured my heart by giving all that I'd please;
But it just couldn't last~"the facts were so plain,
It didn't take long before I knew you're a hurricane (hurricane)~"

You're a hurricane, and you've blown my soul to
pieces~"

You bewitched me by acting like a tropical sweet,
But what was the price for this Caribbean treat?
The balmy days passed into a summer of pain,
And the sugar turned sour~"you're a hurricane (hurricane)~"

You're a hurricane, and you've blown my life to
pieces~"
You're a hurricane, and you've blown my soul to
pieces~"

I couldn't find shelter from the spell that you cast,
My defenses grew weaker with each week that passed;
The more that I lost~"the more you would gain
From my shipwrecked soul~"you man-eating hurricane (hurricane)~"

You're a hurricane, and you've blown my heart to
pieces~"
(I can't get away)
You're a hurricane, and you've blown my heart to
pieces~"
(and you won't let me go~")
You're a hurricane, and you've blown my heart to
pieces~"
(I've got to surrender)
You're a hurricane, and you've blown my heart to pieces~"

