"The Game"

With a practised smile you side-stepped and walked away
Your shifty look was all it took Suspicious confirmed, penny's dropped today

On the run, like an outlaw you're on the run

The saying goes you never ever really know anyone
But still you try and now I know why
You managed to fool everyone

On the run, like an outlaw you're on the run
On the run, like an outlaw you're on the run

The time has come, you're moving on Why won't you stay?
And hone to perfection, this art of deception
Instead of the game you play.
