White lady gone to the Southern sea
Why do you appear so suddenly
We want to honor your melody
With a little bitty boat set out on the sea lemanja, lemanja, lemanja
I dream of days spent in Salvador
With my little darling forever more
Taking a walk along the shore
Feels like heaven's an open door
lemanja, lemanja
If I were to offer a plain perfume
And if I were to honor the shining moon
As she sits so lonely upon the dune
Madre d'agua, See you soon
E'na lahia lemanja, E'laiana lemanja
E'lemanja, E'lemanja
I wanted to stay
I gotta go but I'm coming back one day (x3)
