Give me a minute to compose myself,
It's been long, long time since you've been gone
I can still remember conversations we had Too bad that's all that now lingers on
So many times I nearly fooled myself
That somebody like you could give a damn about me
But then one day you stepped into my life
All my strife was a fleeting memory

Over and over in my head at night (What went wrong...)
Didn't lose the battle, didn't give up the fight (What went wrong...)
To let you go then didn't make things right (What went wrong...)
Can't hide the tears from my eyes
Now that love's gone and passed me by

Bearing my life I somehow steered you wrong
From the road once again was driving us away
I pushed aside the things that meant so much
With the hope that you'd be happy someday
I wear regret now like the lines on my face
Not a day passes on that you don't cross my mind (You don't cross my mind...)
Couldn't raise the spirits of the broken hearted
Chance presents itself what'd you do in kind

Over and over in my head at night (What went wrong...)
Didn't lose the battle, didn't give up the fight (What went wrong...)
To let you go then didn't make things right (What went wrong...)
Can't hide the tears from my eyes
Now that love's gone and passed me by

Can't hide the tears from my eyes
Now that love's gone and passed me...

But then one day I gathered up the nerve
To dream all of those ways I thought not to cross
In for this pain that flow deep down inside

That still has the dreams that always know loss
Upon the threshold I now made my ascent Towards the door I sure closed on one careless day
(On one careless day...)
Written on the ledge, just passed, I bother let in That your name, long gone, it faded away

Over and over in my head at night (What went wrong...)
Didn't lose the battle, didn't give up the fight (What went wrong...)
To let you go then didn't make things right (What went wrong...)
What went wrong...
Can't hide the tears from my eyes now that love's gone and passed me...
Love's gone
Love's gone
Love's gone
Now that love's gone and passed me by
