All you have to do is say the words and I'll be there,
Four years together and you never even cared

Its over, can't you see were over?
You make it look so easy leaving everyone behind,
Perfect, nothings ever perfect,
I wish there's something I could say to leave this all behind

Cause there's a reason, behind everything,
And I struggle to find the real me,
And I hope one day I'll realize,
That I haven't got a thing to loose,

All you have to do is say the words and I'll be there,
Four years together and you never even cared

Your quick to point out my mistakes,
And I'm afraid that I've made a few in my life,
But not as big as the one that you made when you said that you're leaving forever and always

All you have to do is say the words and I'll be there,
Four years together and you never even cared
