Welcome to america,
Where no one ever sleeps at night
Suburban life, where girls lose their appetites,
How did we get to here?

I don't know, but you are not alone,
There's so much more,
Than what you're waiting for

Hey, it's alright to let it go
It's not too late to come back home

Life it cruel and cold sometimes,
But please don't give up tonight
Your wounds can heal in time,
The scars can be left behind
How did we get to here?

In a wold full of maybes,
Where everything's changing
And everyone's going in different directions
Where everyone's crazy,
I'm just trying to break free
But the road just get's harder
Harder each day
