When you came on emotion I've never known
I'm waiting for you, aching for you
When you came home you found me waiting by the phone
We know that you have got a mind of your own
We know you don't got a reason you just don't
We know that something's wrong
One gets up, one gets in
You can count me out
But everybody wants to get that feeling
Something's wrong it's not for you
But everybody wants to get a piece of my heart
Now you come on this time you're way too strong
I'm breaking from you, quitting on you
I guess it's true what they say
About all good things must come to end
I'm so tired that I retire
One more nail in the coffin
What you wanted
Is now half as good as when you started
