I said i wouldn't do this but here i am alone
Reaching for your arms
To hold me like they use to a long time ago
Always knew you are
The reason i feel this way inside
Please tell me there's no need to run and hide
Please don't break my heart
I never had so many things to say to you
Or play on my guitar
But like a two-bit shakespeare tragedy
You won't save me from the part
Where you decide that we no longer work
Then i break down and oh my god this hurts
Please don't break my heart
I said i wouldn't do this a long time ago
Please don't break my heart
I never really knew how much you mean to me
Please don't break my heart
And i can't see my myself without you
It seems all wrong to me
And i can't carry on without you and me
What good would it do?
When your not around there's no way i could pull through
I can't get away from this pending solution
There's no real escape from this aching confusion
