Loving you could never be better than it is right now

Well here we are again tonight alone just us two Where lights are dim and true love is comin' through There's no one else in this whole world as far as we're concerned

We've built us a fire so let it burn
When you look at me like you do right now I go to pieces

Cause I know what's on your mind it's just me You've got that love-me-look in your eyes like you've had so many times and how
Loving you could never be better than it is right now

Tomorrow night we'll meet again and once more fan
the flame

Cause loving you the way I do stays the same This love of ours is just as strong as any vow could be
And love could never be better for you and me
When you look at me...
Loving you could never be better than it is right now
