I live for stolen moments when I'm with you
But we're running out of lies and alibis
But I take any chances that I have to
For the kind of tender love I find with you Stolen love and borrowed time only the backroad we can find
But here I am knocking on your door again Though I know that it's not right I've gotta have your love tonight
We're livin' on stolen love and borrowed time
[ fiddle - steel ]
I can think of a dozen different reasons
Why I should never see you anymore
But my thought of you turns on a fire inside me
I can't rest until you're in my arms once more Stolen love and borrowed time...
We're livin' on stolen love and borrowed time
