Her heads so big I need some breathing space!

And he'd brake his back just to know your safe...

Got a confident suspicion that's his cell phones in the kitchen

It's ringing again,

It drives me around the bend.

He jumps into her bed again,

Forgetting all about his friends.

My sms has clearly sent!

No reply

Her heads so big I need some breathing space

I wish someone would put her in her place.

As he pushes back the curtains he checks his cell

phone is still working, it's ringing again

He ignores all his friends.

He phoned up for a 20 from this guy who gives him plenty

Guys who gives him plenty.

He's waiting around, he jus wants to hit town!

He jumps into her bed again

Forgetting all about his friends!

My sms has clearly sent.

Her heads so big I need some breathing space

I wish someone would put her in her place

He spends every single waking moment of every day thinking of her hoping that one day

He jumps into her bed again!

Forgetting all about his friends,

My sms has clearly sent

Her heads so big I need some breathing space
I wish someone would punch her in the face

You have to believe me,
I wish you the best time.

Her heads so big I need some breathing space.

You have to believe me,
I wish you the best time.

Her heads so big I need some breathing space.
