(Wayne P. Walker)

If I'm sorry for the things I've done
When you know you've always been the only one
If I get down on my knees, cross my heart and ask you please
If I throw away my pride will you come home.

If I ask forgiveness when my sense are none
If I promise there'll be better day to come
If I say the fault is mine when I loved all the time
If I throw away my pride will you come home.

--- Instrumental ---

Love can't be a one way street and still survive
It takes more than one to keep a love alive
Even though the cost is high our love's worth another try
If I throw away my pride will you come home.

If I throw away my pride will you come home...
