(Ronald McCown)

If there were no wishes perhaps I wouldn't want Or things I'd like to have and someone I'd like to hold If there would be no faith perhaps we never would have met
And if there were no memories I wouldn't have to forget.

Now if there was no sadness nobody would have to cry
And you'd see no lonely teardrops a falling from my eyes
If there would have been no loving you my heart would not be broken yet
And if there were no memories I wouldn't have to forget.

And you'd see no lonely teardrops a falling from my
eyes
not be broken yet
And if there were no memories I wouldn't have to forget.

And if there were no memories I wouldn't have to forget
Yes, yes, yes...
