

Mel Tillis

"Midnight, Me And The Blues"

Visit "Midnight, Me And The Blues" on MotoLyrics.com

Long train rumbles low in the distance hear it blow
Don't engineers know I miss you?
And they're reminding me how lonely nights can be
When it's midnight, me and the blues

Car's going down the street, no traffic jams to meet
This time of night they'll drive right through
And they all go right by and they don't know I cry
When it's midnight, me and the blues

Midnight's the loneliest time in the world
Me, I'm the loneliest guy with no girl
These blues began when it ended with you
Now it's midnight, me and the blues

Jet plane low overhead rumbles my lonely bed
Crumbles my lovely dreams of you
They don't care that you're gone or if midnight lasts till dawn
When it's midnight, me and the blues

Midnight's the loneliest time in the world
Me, I'm the loneliest guy with no girl
These blues began when it ended with you
Now it's midnight, me and the blues
Midnight, me and the blues

Visit Mel Tillis page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.