Woke up slow
The sky was a different shade of blue
Did I sleep too long?
This early morning can't be true
Where do I go?
This is all unfamiliar and I don't know how
But it goes to show
We didn't know what we had until now

But if we try
To come together all as one
To reunite
This harmony, love conquers all
Was it worth the fight?
Look at you now you got answers?
Cus we want answers
With a battle cry
We send this out to you
Your day will come
This I'm sure
New enemy
You think we'll soon forget no not at all
Your day will come
This I'm sure
New enemy
Cus what we had is now all gone this means war

Before today
I've seen better days
In back of me
But in front of me I see doom
And winter just won't get in back of me
It's so foolish to think of all the times
I was feeling down
Cus this is my time to live
I won't be spending it thinking about dying
You're so foolish
You're so foolish
I can't believe what's on TV
They found the seams and pulled the strings

(chorus)
