I don't want to waste anymore of this precious time
I can see the shape of future things that will come
Watching as the ships go sinking down one by one
Caught beneath the blood red burning light of the sun

Such a lovely day
Could be swept away
We're turning at the bend
Straight into the end
Standing on the edge of the world

Look into your soul woman tell me which way do you go
Dressing up to kill but I really don't think you know
Wanting everything but you're making love to the lies
When you gonna wake up baby won't you realize

Such a lovely day
Could be swept away
We're turning at the bend
Straight into the end
Standing on the edge of the world

Such a lovely day
We could be swept away
We're turning at the bend
Straight into the end
Standing on the edge of the world
