Turn to the East
Watch for the dawn
The night we loved in
Is now nearly gone

Look, here comes the sun
Look, here comes the sun
So I've kissed you
We'll count to ten, and then
It will be time to join the world again

Turn to the sky
Rest your head on the sound
The sun reaches high
And I reach for your hand

Look, here comes the sun
Look, here comes the sun
I wish we could stay, another day
Yes I say, it'll be time to wish the world away

And after that was such a short time ago
But it's no good to pretend
Sun is here and says it's time we must go
I wish it would never end
Oh no, let it never end

Look, here comes the sun
Look, here comes the sun
So I'll kiss you
We'll count to ten, and then
It'll be time to join the world again

Look, here comes the sun
Look, here comes the sun
Look, here comes the sun
