Day upon day it's a race to be known
You've been there, you've done that and we'll never know
And you say you've seen it all before

I heard you wrote the rule book
The in crowd, the let down
The accused, you're confused
You're oh so very complicated
And I guess you've seen it all before

Hey

You leave behind a trail of destruction
Can't bear to be like anybody else
And you say you've seen it all before

What you thinking?
'Cos we really didn't notice
What you're doing
Well nobody ever notices
What you're thinking
Well we really didn't notice
What you're doing

Calm down now, lose your frown
Stop your running around the room
Before it all comes crashing down on you
And I guess you've seen it all before

What you thinking?
'Cos we really didn't notice
What you're doing
Well nobody ever notices
What you're thinking
Well we really didn't notice
State of confusion
What's your meaning?
