Inside of me is an empty place. Where there once was love is a deadly face where all colors bleed to a shade of red. My darkest dream in my burning bed. Shout out my name for a chance to redeem you. Last chance to bleed you is my final call. I'm a missile, I'm a saint, I'm the fucking devil. I'm the last chance you've got to see the way you come. Gone with the wind in a fatal blow, lost forever as a bullet screams your name. Tonight I'm riding out, I'm dying out, I'm going under. I'm on my way to rape the day of all that's right. Paint the sun jet-black and ink my veins with all your memories. We'll fall together as we become one. I'll become you and everything you put me through. And everything you put me through will flow through you. And soon you will remember every single thing you did. Before you saw my face, before you call my name, you'll pay! Everything you did to me, you'll pay! Everything you've put me through, you'll pay! Everything that I've become, you'll pay! Everything you've done to me, you'll pay!
