You give some tattered love to me
Well oh no no
It's just so hard now to believe
Well you're no stone, and you don't feel like home
Well yeah yeah yeah
I lost my faith and you lost me
I don't need you anymore, boy
Don't need you anymore, boy
Though I love you all the same, boy
I don't need you anymore, boy
Don't need you anymore
Boy, you're all that's left to blame
I came 'round and I filled ya out
I swear to Christ
I never meant to put ya down
I mean it, I meant it
Or I never woulda said it
I love you, well I did
But a love like mine is borderline a sin
Birthday boy
You look scared
You look ashamed
We both know things are never gonna be the same
We both pissed it away from the start
We're crying foul
We're falling apart
We both pissed it away from the start
We're crying foul
We're falling apart
