

The Title "Ever So Slightly"

Visit "Ever So Slightly" on MotoLyrics.com

I took a chance
Investing everything I had of me in you
And as of yet
It is unclear to me what being here will do
To me, 'cause you and I are miles apart
And I, can be alright with that because

You smiled ever so slightly,
As I held you tightly,
It was just enough, for me,
To fall for you hopelessly,
The morning I woke up,
Before one or both thought,
Much too heavily,
About what it means to be happy,

I took a walk,
And then three trains,
And it was raining on my head,
And I forgot,
Every minute I had spent to get to you,
And I, we shared a silence,
Closed our eyes and that is why,
I came all the way,

You smiled ever so slightly,
As I held you tightly,
It was just enough for me,
To fall for you hopelessly,
The morning I woke up,
Before one or both thought,
Much too heavily,
About what it means to be happy,

So what was lost,
Before my heart was yours,
I think I found all I wanted and more,
So come close,
I'll make sure,
We both know what we're for,

You smiled ever so slightly,

As I held you tightly,
It was just enough for me,
To fall for you hopelessly,
The morning I woke up,
Before one or both thought,
Much too heavily,
About what it means to be happy,

You smiled ever so slightly,
As I held you tightly,
It was just enough for me,
To fall for you hopelessly,
The morning I woke up,
Before one or both thought,
Much too heavily,
About what it means to be happy,

You smiled ever so slightly,
As I held you tightly,
It was just enough for me,
To fall for you hopelessly,
The morning I woke up,
Before one or both thought,
Much too heavily,
About what it means to be happy,

Visit The Title page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.